“Rainbow” is a game about animals who protect the beach, teaching humans not to touch the natural environment, and saving all the animals in the Sanctuary. The story begins when you meet “Banana”, an adorable blue crab who is about to be eaten by a vicious catfish. While the salmon fishery is banned in the Sanctuary, the catfish keep finding a way to catch even wild sea creatures, including the cute crab. Defending the beach and raising courage are the roles of her animal comrades. You must collect all the animals to protect the beach and the Sanctuary. But the player will have to work together with the animals since each one has its own role. For example, the banana tree helps the crab to defend the beach, and the bear helps the crabs and sea creatures to run away from the catfish. In addition, the scorpion teaches the player not to leave the beach, and the dolphin is a partner for saving the sea animals. Two other animals, the snail and the turtle, work together with the player to defend the beach. And even if the beach is attacked by dangerous creatures, you can fight with them to win the battle. To be stronger you must unite with more animals. “Rainbow” has

Prepare to engage in a battle of wits with Atrriage, a turn-based strategy game crafted in the spirit of classic board games. Inspired by Sci-fi space naval battles in 80s Anime, command a fleet of ten warships against a rival commander in an all-out battle for supremacy. Outwit your opponent by mastering four different ship classes, each with their own strengths, weaknesses, and roles in combat. Execute your strategy on a randomly generated playfield, opening new possible tactics every time you play. Take advantage of variations in your ship's endurance parameters to withstand your rival's onslaught, but watch out, if your battle strength reaches zero, it's Game Over. Features Intense tactical fleet combat where you must strategize within an octagonal-shaped playfield rendered across six different beautiful space backgrounds sporting randomly generated obstacles for endless variations of play. Dominate the playfield with four versatile, fully animated space warship classes, each with their own sets of unique attacks, movement patterns, detailed textures, and customizable colors. Master your fleet by taking on rival commanders in Offline Mode, featuring three distinct AI settings for players of different skill levels. Challenge your friends across the web with Online Mode and find out who's the more skilled commander. Featuring a fully implemented lobby and chat services for an engaging online experience. Test your prowess with Challenge Mode, featuring nine compelling puzzles and game variations only skilled tacticians can master. Rise above the ranks as you gain experience from every battle on any mode of play. Level up across 51 military ranks and show the world your prestige in the game of Atrriage! Community:- HELP NEEDED - MISSIONS/COMMANDS - FURNITURE - Founded by Aran Gautier in 2011 in a Benelux country, Atrriage has been around for only five short years but is already a well-known name in the European indie game scene. But that's not to say it's been around forever. Aran actually discovered the game "in the depths of the internet" when it was being used as a space strategy teaching tool. His passion for the game led him to create a more comprehensive tutorial. After c9d1549cdd

Recommended for You 60 Second Review Golf: Back in Action One of the absolute best tactical games of the last few years, Jagged Alliance: Back in Action's aging formula remains as addictive and addictive as ever. Add in a selection of new models and maps to broaden your vision of future operations. Golf is the latest addition to the Jagged Alliance franchise and it's not hard to see why: it may have more gameplay than it's predecessor, but the additions to the strategic gameplay and overall presentation are just as impressive. Two New and Two Old Map Packs First released in 2006, Jagged Alliance: Back in Action has had an overhaul to its visual and audio design, improving the game by leaps and bounds. The game looks sharper than before and the audio quality has been upgraded with the enhanced music and sound FX. While the graphics have received a revamp, the underlying gameplay remains the same. Golf is a two map pack adding three new maps - one of which is multiplayer. New models include the Arulco contract fighter with its Vipers, Viggo and Spark, the Ascii Bulldog and the Jagged Alliance logo. The three maps - Perito Beach, Porto Maravilloso and Gaspar - are, like the original Drassen maps, larger than the maps in Jagged Alliance: First European War. This gives a much larger area to cover, providing better concealment and protection for your units, which can now enjoy real cover from tall buildings and terrain features. The addition of the new models and maps puts an extra dash of charm and realism to proceedings. It's no wonder the world of Jagged Alliance is about to be blown wide open. 3 New Mercs Unlike the other two map packs, Golf features the 3 new mercs. These 3 models are exclusive to this DLC, which includes a new merc: the double-crossing CID agent Viggo. Viggo has been specially trained to use specialist weapons for maximum effectiveness on the battlefield, allowing you to take out the opposition with a quick double-tap of the trigger and leaving them with nothing but pain and regret. Equipped with a suppressed rifle, CID ammo and the double-crossing capability, Viggo is a master of silent tactics and a ruthless killer. The last model you will ever want to run into during a firefight. The other two new mercs are the two-handed axe-w

I was nearly a foot taller than you... that's something you could have adapted for your game in any way, I think - Eduard - 12/13/09 I certainly did not know that you would be making a game - Joan - 12/13/09 I'd just heard rumors and I was skeptical... I also had the distinct feeling that even if I was as unfriendly in real life as in my games, our on-screen personalities were more analogous (mutual enemies) - Eduard - 12/13/09 That's a point that I hadn't thought of before, to play friendly enemies - Joan - 12/13/09 You've been asked, and I did all that I felt I could; I can't make you like this - Eduard - 12/13/09 Can you ask that they not be afraid to be mean to me, when they think you want it? - Joan - 12/13/09 It seems their games have a more prickly personality than ours do... This is a pixel art, platform game inspired by Super Meat Boy, for anyone who liked that but is sick of the repetition. -It's a short platformer on a 4*4 grid (left,right,up,down). -All stages are procedurally generated with a simple structure. -The generator creates stages while you are playing. -The stages can be randomized. -The stages are simple, but with interesting physics to keep you on your toes. -Each level has a time-limit. -The player is limited by that limit. -You can not repeat the same level by restarting a level. -Your stats are saved and you can see how you improved over your time played. -The game is all about timing, so try to do as many combos as you can within that time-limit. -No ai. -Single player. -Mode selectable, no arcade mode. How to Play: Move the mouse to left click, while holding and turning to the right. You'll be faced with these screen: -The goal is to get all the stars by beating that stage. -Progressing to the next stage will increase your score. -The time-limit will decrease. You only have until the last star is reached. -The game will generate a new stage when you lose a life. -When you lose a life there's three bars on screen: -Progress bars, this tells you how much you have left. -The speed of the bar will slow down, the more time left. -The score. This will go up to 100 stars. -The final bar, the speed will decrease while you have a maximum of two lives. -When you are at the end of the stage, the red bar will increase the speed. -If you achieve a combo, the blue bar will increase its speed and the red bar will reduce itself. -Every star is worth 10 combos, which is the most important number in the game. -You have three lives, you can't lose them. -There's a Reset button, which will clear your score. -

Q: How to catch Internet Explorer 11 (1133) error For some time ago I started to run into issues with Chrome/IE/Safari/Firefox behaving badly. I started using BrowserStack's support service to get more up to date versions of the browsers and discovered IE11 (version 1133) is very problematic. I have tried using a script to catch and capture the error but I don't seem to be getting any messages. This is the script that I use: if (navigator.appName == "Microsoft Internet Explorer") { if (navigator.appVersion.indexOf("/version/") != -1) { alert("IE version:" + navigator.appVersion); } else { console.log("Browser type:" + navigator.appName + ", Version:" + navigator.appVersion); } var iE = document.getElementById('content'); iE.focus(); iE.select(); } The only time I got an alert was for IE version 11. When I cross this version of the Internet Explorer version I get a pop-up and there the end. I haven't installed any other versions of IE nor any of the other browsers. A: After a lot of time of google searching here is what I found out: var iE = document.getElementById('content'); iE.focus(); iE.select(); iE.sendKeys(KeyEvent.DOM_VK_ENTER) Q: IE9 removed popup.html file, now my CSS doesn't work in the popup I noticed my popup isn't displaying some style in IE9. I noticed that IE9 removed the popup.html file, how can i put my fixed css on the popup in this scenario? A: An alternative to user agent detection is to add the following to your page:
