PPPShar Accelerator

PPPShar Accelerator is an Internet connection sharing tool that offers PPP proxy acceleration and web caching for both single computer and LAN usage. You need a network share folder where you store your Internet access information (IP address, network mask, etc) as this information will be required to setup the PPPShar Accelerator. You need also a web server running on your LAN and share it's Internet access information. This information has to be stored in the "site.ini" file in PPPShar Accelerator's shared folder. You can select a folder in PPPShar Accelerator and use it for web page & file caching. You can also specify a webpage or a file that you want to cache. You can set a quota limit to restrict the number of page loads/file downloads per day, per hour or per minute. PPPShar Accelerator also supports "Private" browsing (user has to enter password to cache/save a web page or file) or "No Private Browsing" which is similar to the Private Browsing function of some browsers. If you are using Windows XP then you need a "system tray icon" installed in the system tray. User configurable and supports LAN, 3G, ADSL, Usa Dialup, DSL, Satellite etc. 1. Installation & Setup - You can use pre-configured or custom "site.ini" file based on your needs to setup your own web page caching options. - The "site.ini" file is configurable in PPPShar Accelerator settings. You can specify web page names, limit number of page accesses per day, per hour, per minute, require password to access internet etc. - PPPShar Accelerator is not a proxy server like Zenwalklinux. It does not filter your web page or site but only caches the web page so that you access the same web page from any computer with internet connection. PPPShar Accelerator features: Download Acceleration. Downloading files from a server is just as frustrating as Internet browsing. Using a fast modem will only make the problem worse. PPPShar Accelerator can cut web browsing download times in half or more. You can set a quota limit to control the amount of bandwidth allocated for file downloads. PPPShar Accelerator also provides traffic logging and filtering. Site and web page filtering - Using your own "site.ini" file, you can configure PPPShar 09e8f5149f
