Wake Up (group) Wake Up was a US Christian rock group originally founded in 2004 by singer and songwriter Matt Maher. The group disbanded in 2013. Maher subsequently released an eponymous solo album in 2017. Early years The original lineup for Wake Up consisted of Maher, brothers Lucas and Zach Brown, and new members Mark Lee, Anthony D'Amico, and Jared J. Conrad. Wake Up's first album, Relentless Crown, was released in 2006. The song "Stars Align", from the album, won the GMA Dove Award for Rock Song of the Year. Problems within the group in the late-2006, early-2007 period (controversy surrounding David Moss aka "Dylan Black") caused a hiatus for the band, and the recording of their next album, titled No Place Called Home, was delayed indefinitely. Maher later explained that Moss had been "hijacked by the devil".

Matt Maher stated in December 2013 that no one in Wake Up were planning on ever reuniting, but indicated he wanted to work with the original members again someday. Musical style Wake Up's style is described as rock, pop, alternative, Americana, gospel and pop country. As compared to the other emerging rock artists of the day (such as Switchfoot, Big Daddy Weave, and Mat Kearney), who had previously garnered attention in the contemporary Christian music field, Wake Up had a unique sound. Maher's vocals are considered to be a defining feature of the band's sound. Reunion and post-Wake Up projects Matt Maher embarked on a solo career in 2009, releasing his first album, Hypnotized, produced by Kerry Livgren of the band Kansas. In 2017, Maher announced a second solo album, titled, The Alchemist. Zach Brown has a solo career as the singer of The Black Crowes. Mark Lee has remained in the Church of Music, releasing a solo album, Mercy, in 2017. Anthony D'Amico is now the lead vocalist of Chagall. He now owns the
